

TAMMIE FERRINGER, MD. (USA)

- She is section-head and fellowship director of dermatopathology at Geisinger Medical Center where she completed residency; followed by dermatopathology fellowship at Medical University of South Carolina.
- She has directed multiple sessions and given more than 200 domestic and international lectures. Her literary contributions include co-editor of a dermatopathology textbook, in its 4th edition, and author of over 75 articles and chapters.
- She is president of the American Board of Dermatology, immediate past president of American Society of Dermatopathology, and on the board of directors of American Academy of Dermatology.
- She has served and/or chaired over 50 committees of the Association of Professors of Dermatology, International Society of Dermatopathology, American Board of Pathology, American Board of Medical Specialties, Women's Dermatologic Society, and the ACGME.